Abhishek Dutta closes Day Two of BFW 27th Edition in fluid drape and surface play

Abhishek Dutta's showcase at the 27th edition of Bangalore Fashion Week moved between sculpted drape, cutwork and metallic texture. The looks balanced fluidity with structure in a palette of grey, pink, teal and orange.

BENGALURU, 16 OCTOBER 2026 — Abhishek Dutta's Day Two showcase at the 27th edition of Bangalore Fashion Week unfolded in a language of controlled drama, where drape, slit lines and surface richness shaped the collection's mood. The silhouettes shifted between fitted bodices, fluid skirts and tailored separates, each look carrying a sense of movement across the runway.

A monochrome ensemble in grey and black brought a patterned sleeveless bodice with a sharply defined waist and a long skirt cut with a high slit. A sheer drape in pale ivory was thrown over one shoulder, softening the graphic line of the outfit and adding lightness to the silhouette.

Elsewhere, the collection turned to colour with a pink sleeveless top paired with a fitted, metallic-textured skirt in deep blue and silver. A rich teal drape fell across one arm and trailed into a fringed finish, introducing depth and contrast to the look through fabric weight and sheen.

Orange appeared in a more angular register through a cut-out blouse and a striped draped skirt that moved in layered folds. The styling kept the waist exposed, giving the ensemble a sharper, contemporary edge while the fabric retained a sense of fluidity in motion.

Another orange look paired a sleeveless top with a wide-leg trouser silhouette, the trousers marked by a subtle geometric pattern and a strong flare. A printed sash crossed the torso and fell to one side, adding a diagonal line that interrupted the clean structure of the outfit. Across the selection, the collection held together through its use of drape, texture and a palette that moved from muted neutrals to vivid sunset tones.
